The Cosmo skin awards

Behold: the ultimate list of product porn, filled with the absolute best things you can put on your face right now.

body lotions and washes

1. BEST SELF-TANNER

“I’m so pale that my skin could double as a lighthouse to bring home lost boats in the dark. So I was surprised that this gradual tanner left me with a realistic bronze after just a few applications.”

—CM

European Wax Center Glow It Gradual Glow Body Lotion, $18, waxcenter.com/strut365 for locations

2. BEST HAND TREATMENT

“These single-use gloves—they’re like sheet masks for your hands—take my at-home mani to the next level. I just pop them on for 10 minutes before I paint my nails and let the moisturizing glycerin and soy do their thing.”

—AK

Aveeno Radiance Boosting Hand Mask, $3, drugstores

3. BEST BODY WASH

“Since a nude selfie would be R-rated, you’ll just have to trust me: My entire body looks ridiculously smooth thanks to this hydrating wash with aloe vera and vitamin B5.”

—CM

Cetaphil Ultra Gentle Refreshing Body Wash, $8, drugstores

4. BEST BODY CREAM

“I hate most body creams because of the tacky residue they leave behind. Not this fluffy formula though. It has lightweight hydrators that soak into my skin in seconds, so my body feels moisturized but zero percent sticky.”

—AK

Neutrogena Hydro Boost Whipped Body Balm, $6, drugstores

5. BEST BODY SPF

“I brought this on a recent beach vacay, and let me tell you, it’s the real deal. My skin didn’t have even the teeniest trace of sunburn after four straight days of swimming and sipping piña coladas in the sun.”

—LB

Australian Gold Botanical SPF 70 Mineral Lotion, $17, ulta.com
